SUMMARY

I am a principled and an enthusiastic individual who has a considerable interest in data analytics, innovative web developments, in advancing cyber security strategies and next generation technologies. I employ excellent agility, leadership, team-player skills, and multi-tasking strengths acquired directly from my experiences such as with clients, students, and respectfully liaise with the upper structures. While my short retail experience has equipped me with strong analysis skills, general marketing skills, and relationship building, I have demonstrated an ability to continuously learn, adapt, share, or apply and advance that knowledge. I value honesty, integrity, and accountability.
